Identity Theft Investigations:

Identity theft exists in every strata of crime, from individual street crimes, such as purse snatching & mailbox robberies, to highly complex and organized criminal enterprises.

This 2-day introductory level course is intended for law enforcement, criminal intelligence analysts, and prosecutors who may be involved with identity theft cases. This training increases the student's awareness of the "bigger picture" of identity theft. Students learn to recognize identity theft indicators often present in many other types of criminal activity. The training promotes multi-agency & private-sector collaborations and teaches investigative best practices that lead to successful prosecutions.
